

OHIO MUSIC EDUCATION ASSOCIATION 2023 PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT CONFERENCE

Dear School Administrator:

The Ohio Music Education Association (OMEA) is one of the largest state affiliates of NAFME, the National Association for Music Education. Celebrating its 91st anniversary in 2023, OMEA serves Ohio's 1.8 million students in schools and universities across the state. Our membership includes active music teachers, collegiate members (prospective music teachers) and retired music teachers.

The 2023 OMEA Professional Development Conference (PDC) will be held in Columbus, from February 2-4, at the Greater Columbus Convention Center and nearby hotel properties. The OMEA PDC is the third largest music conference in the United States with sessions presented by nationally recognized master teachers demonstrating research-based, best practices in the field of music education. In addition, over 30 performing ensembles will present concerts showcasing the talents of Ohio's students.

The OMEA PDC partners with the Technology Institute for Music Education, (TI:ME), to provide every teacher in attendance with access to clinics and demonstrations of the latest music education technology. Included in the registration fee is access to the largest music trade show east of the Mississippi. Displays and virtual demonstrations by exhibitors from across the United States allow teachers to see new products available in the music industry.

With a few additional steps, teachers may use their conference experience to earn contact hour certificates, (nominal additional registration expense), and graduate level continuing education credit, (additional expense), for their licensure requirements.

Please visit our website, www.omeapdc.com, to see updates and details regarding the conference. This website provides information about registration, housing and parking, contact hours and graduate credit, as well as lists of performing ensembles and presenters. To access the complete conference schedule, please follow our event on guidebook, which will be available in December.

Providing the opportunity for your music staff to attend this conference will have a direct and meaningful impact on the students in your district. If you or another administrator would like to attend the conference to checkout this opportunity first-hand, please contact my office at executive_director@omea-ohio.org. I would be happy to provide you with a pass for any single day of the conference and answer any questions regarding how OMEA can assist your music staff.

On the attached page are some metrics from a typical conference, viewed through the lens of the Ohio Standards for the Teaching Profession.
